League Averts Break With Italy, Affirming Power To Act In Crisis

Fate Of Tribunal Held To Hinge On Corfu Decision

GENEVA, Sept. 6.—(By the United Press)—The League of Nations Council avoided a break with Italy, late today.

After deciding at a private session to reaffirm the council's right to adjudicate the dispute between Italy and Greece, the only action at the public meeting was to recommend that the council of Ambassadors find a basis for the settlement of Italy's demands for reparations for the death of her commissioners.

The League Council did not enter into a discussion of whether Italy's occupation of Corfu is a violation of Article 10.

The council reserved the right to act in the matter, but took no definite action.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—A Central News dispatch from Rome, says that reports are coming from there that Italian forces have occupied the islands of Merlo, Fano and Matraia, Northwest of Corfu.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—Brazil and Uruguay are said to have instructed their delegates at Geneva to make common cause with Italy and withdraw from the League of Nations if she does not, asserts a Milan dispatch to Le Matin.

ATHENS, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—The Greek fleet has received orders to retire to the Gulf of Volo to avoid contact with the Italian fleet, it is learned on good authority. The Gulf of Volo, an arm of the Aegean Sea, is on the eastern side of the Greek Peninsula, and approximately 90 miles north of Athens.

GENEVA, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—Efforts of the League of Nations Council to reach some agreement on the Greco-Italian crisis, constituted the reason for the sudden decision to hold no session of the assembly today.

Lord Robert Cecil and other members of the council desire to go before the assembly with something definite, for they realize that if the world nations met together as a forum before any tangible results were obtained, there would doubtless be a forensic explosion on the floor.

The assembly as a whole, is looking to the council to take some action on the Italian question and the council as the executive body is contemplating the decision.

Wide Breach Separates Miners, Operators

Back To The Harem
Campaign Is On In Far Away Turkey

ANGORA, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—Persistent efforts are being made in Turkey to restore the harem as a national institution. Polygamy was abolished more than a year ago by a resolution passed by the National Assembly, but since then several unsuccessful efforts have been made to restore it to a legal status.

At the head of current attempt to put through the assembly a resolution recognizing the harem as a National Economic necessity, is Salih Hodge.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—Leaders of the Miners' Union and anthracite operators, whose differences have led to a general suspension of mining, had some new ground to go over, but still exhibited marked difference in views when Governor Pinchot reassembled them today in the course of his peace effort.

Tentative agreements on the part of the employers' group to drop the stand for arbitration which has been upheld since the inception of negotiations were understood to be in the governor's hands as a result of yesterday's executive sessions.

Miners' Union officials, too, had in some degree moderated the original scope of their organization's demands by agreeing that a ten per cent wage increase for contract miners might do. They continued, however, to ask more for the day workers, who constitute the bulk of anthracite employees and this the operators were most unwilling to concede. The Union likewise tentatively offered to put a limit to the amount of dues, which would be assessed against its members, if the operators would agree to collect these dues by the "check-off" method of holding the amounts involved out of each individual miner's pay check.

Red Cross Fund Swells As Jap Premier Sounds Call To Heroic People

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—While the American Red Cross pushed forward, practically every measure for the Japanese earthquake sufferers, indications today were that the appeal for a $500,000 relief fund to be administered by the organization was being met by a more generous and quick response throughout the nation. No estimate was obtainable of the amount contributed through local Red Cross chapters, but the flow of contributions continuing to reach headquarters here raised hope of realization of the amount sought.

An initial purchase of food, medical supplies and shelter material, to go forward at once, already has been ordered by the Red Cross. After taking over yesterday the entire purchasing and shipping department of the American Relief Administration in order to expedite relief.

Approximately 350,000 tons of shipping in the Pacific has been placed at the disposal of the Red Cross by the shipping board for the transportation of supplies. As the purchase orders were placed the society also prepared for the dispatch of medical and nursing personnel.

Meanwhile, destroyers of the Asiatic fleet are en route to Japan.

Secretary Sleep Faces Important Task

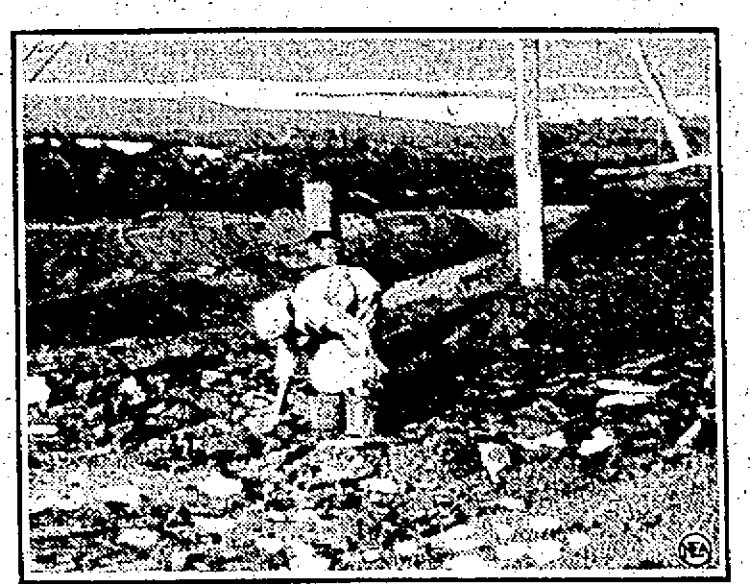

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1923)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Enter C. Bascom Sleep as Secretary to the President of the United States; exit, George B. Christian, friend and associate for thirty years, of the late President Harding.

Mr. Sleep hardly knows President Coolidge. He was chosen upon the advice of Speaker Gillett, Secretary of War Weeks and Senator Curtis of Kansas, because Mr. Coolidge asked them to select a man who knew Congress by its first name. Ever since the appointment was made the fact that Mr. Sleep is the member of the Republican National committee from Virginia and one of the most influential men in gathering delegates from the South to the National nomination conventions has been emphasized. To Mr. Coolidge's friends is attributed the political vision in the appointment—not to the President though undoubtedly he will benefit from it. Mr. Sleep is the type of Secretary who is expected to make "the boys," namely the party workers, feel at home when they enter the White House. Handshaking and a pleasant smile go a long way in politics and with it sometimes a personal favor that means expedition in the handling of a case before the government. Mr. Sleep is in a position to wield enough influence possibly to insure the nomination of the man now in the White House. Mr. Coolidge himself is personally unknown to the rank and file of the party, or even the leaders. Mr. Sleep knows most everybody in national politics.

Upham Urges U. S. To Name Commissioner In Reparations Dispute

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—American intervention with a firm hand to break the deadlock between France and Germany on the question of reparations was advocated by Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, upon his return home yesterday after a tour of Europe this summer to study conditions. He will go to Washington next week at the invitation of the President to report on the situation in the old world.

Upham said he would recommend to President Coolidge that he ask congress for authority to name a commission of American business men to determine reparations Germany is able to pay.

Without asking permission of France, the United States, in Mr. Upham's opinion, should inquire into Germany's ability to pay and then France should be informed that the figure arrived at should be accepted at once. Failure of France to accept the commission's findings should be followed by a demand upon France to pay at once the debt she owes the United States, according to Mr. Upham's plan.

"The United States is the only nation in the world today that is in a position to demand that Europe put its house in order," Mr. Upham said.

"Usually every right thinking person believes that, under the rules of the war game, Germany, having lost, should make proper reparations. It is stupid to seek to impose conditions on the vanquished nation that would result in ruin, not only for Germany, but for the countries in Europe that are looking to Germany for reparations."

France, today, instead of paying its debt to this country, is employing that credit to make of herself what she told us in her hour of need Germany was trying to do, to the destruction of our very civilization.

"While many may sympathize with France's plea of protecting herself against another war, the fact is that the economic structure of the civilized world is put in jeopardy by the present actions of France."

"The European nations seem powerless to bring order out of chaos, without any regard to leagues of nations, world courts, or any other tribunal that may be advocated by well meaning Americans, the time has come for a business settlement of the whole problem."

"Not a commission of American business men would be fair to both Germany and France goes without saying, and in my judgment, we should not have France's permission to take this step."

Mr. Upham announced that unless present plans of the National Committee change, the Republican convention in 1924 would be in Chicago.

Ford Motor Co. Has Cash Balance Of 200 Millions

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—The Ford Motor Company's total cash balance of $210,203,923, assuming the good will item, unchanged at $20,017,985 as announced yesterday from compilations made from the balance sheet as of June 30 last, is the largest cash holding ever reported by any industrial concern in the world. It was declared in financial circles tonight.

The minimum profits indicated for the four months ended June 30 by a comparison of profit and loss surplus of the company's June 30 report, and with a more detailed report filed in Massachusetts, were $1,351,560, equal to about $315 a share on its 172,465 shares of stock. Allowing for moderate depreciation, annual earnings on the company's stock capitalization now are placed in the "four figure class," all of which accrue to the Ford family, in which the entire ownership of the concern is vested.

Total assets of the company are $507,000,000 compared with less than $100,000 twenty years ago when it was organized in Michigan.

OHIO COMPANY'S WAREHOUSE DESTROYED

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—The Strauss-Hirshberg Company, operating a department store here, today received a radio message that its warehouse and office in Yokohama had been destroyed by the earthquake, but that Harold Van Brunt, a Californian in charge of the office, escaped.

WILL PAY FINE AND APPEAL TO COURTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—Max Strauss, president of the Baltimore-American Line Inc., one of the steamship companies fined $200 per passenger for bringing immigrants into quarantine a few minutes before the September quota was open, today announced the company would pay the fine under protest and then appeal to the courts in an effort to have it refunded.

TOKIO, Sept. 5.—(By the A. P.)—Twenty seven new earthquake shocks were felt during the night, but the authorities today expressed the view that no further destructive ones were likely. Occasional outbreak of fire lighted up the sky, but they were not dangerous.

Splendid order is being maintained in the affected area. Temporary lighting systems have been re-established in the parks where thousands are camped under rude shelters. The weather remains warm and bright. Railway communication has been re-established from Omiya westward.

OSAKA, Sept. 6.—(By the A. P.)—All money in the Bank of Japan vaults was saved from destruction in the fire which followed the earthquake and tidal wave, it became known here today.

A repetition of earthquake and fire today showed Yokohama as its center, extending north and south about 100 miles and 140 miles east and west, from that city.

This area included 33 counties, five large cities, inhabited by 7,000,000 people who were caught in the disaster. It is estimated that about 70 per cent of the cities and towns within the stricken area were destroyed.

Yokohama, according to reports received here, was totally destroyed and only about one fourth of Tokyo remains.

The fire at Yokohama brought freedom to felons confined in prison there; as they were released when it became apparent the prison was in the path of the flames.

Additional divisions of troops have been ordered from Osaka to Tokio equipped with provisions and machine guns.

DISASTER UNSPEAKABLE

IWAKI, WIRELESS STATION, JAPAN, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—A courier returning today from Tokio, described the disaster there as unspeakable. The city, he said, was three-fourths buried. On ponds in the parks, he found charred, unidentified bodies "floating like fishes."

Within a certain area all things had been reduced to ashes except iron frames and brick pillars. The burned wrecks of street cars and automobiles clogged the streets. The sufferers were gathered in public squares and parks, lying under sheets on mats, living on the scanty food supplied by the authorities. The army was restoring the means of communication.

REBELS TAKE ADVANTAGE OF SITUATION

MOSCOW, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—The dispatches received today from Moscow and Peking say that the revolutionary elements in Japan, are taking advantage of the catastrophe, and have started armed uprising in Tokio, where there is fighting in the streets.

IWAKI, JAPAN, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—The Japanese home office today took the first steps toward attempting to clear up confusion and speculation regarding the actual number of dead and injured in the earthquake and fire at Tokio, when it announced 30,000 dead, 100,000 injured, and 350,000 were homeless.

PEKING, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—About forty foreigners were killed when the earthquake in Japan destroyed the famous Fuji-Ya Hotel and wiped out the adjacent village of Miyashiro in the mountainous district of Hakone, according to a Reuters' dispatch from Osaka. There was a volcanic explosion at Kowakidani, in the same region.

IWAKI, JAPAN, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—Via Radio Corporation of America to the A. P.—Damage southwest of Tokio is summed up by reports today as follows: Yokohama, annihilated. Yokosuka, twelve miles across the Sea of Japan, damaged. Sagami, an extent unknown. Population 100,000 or more. Kamakura, thirty miles from Tokio, collapsed, mostly burned; all villas collapsed; a bathing resort, lost. Hiratsuka and Oiso, small sea shore towns, 38 and 40 miles from Tokio, respectively destroyed. Sagami, a way station for tourists, spared.

Damage slight west of Mishima.

(By The Associated Press)

The Japanese nation, stricken by what is probably the greatest disaster of the modern era, turns bravely to the tremendous task ahead. Marching their shattered resources to aid the hundreds of thousands who suffered from injury and from hunger, and laying her plans for the rebuilding of her ruined cities.

While the rest of the world hurries its ships of war and commerce, deep laden with relief supplies, to Japanese waters, Premier Yamamoto broadcasts a message to his people urging them to unite in the trying hours through which they are passing and appealing to them to make a supreme effort to relieve the suffering and expedite the work of reconstruction.

The cables say that already orders for building materials have been given in England, while leading construction engineers and architects in New York are being asked for assistance in making a new Japan.

Yokohama is a city of desolation, far more severely smitten than is the capital, Tokio. A message from Kobe at the State Department in Washington confirms previous word that the great port of Japan has been completely destroyed, with a tremendous loss of life, including Americans. The city's streets and canals are filled with dead. One dispatch says that only three or four houses have been spared.

The harbor is practically of no value to the relief ships, for the floor has been raised, the break waters torn asunder and the many light-houses with only two exceptions, demolished.

Two hundred foreigners are said to have been killed in Yokohama. Included in this number, according to the various reports, are Captain McDonald, of the Grand Hotel; Mrs. Root and son; Max D. Kirjasoff, the American Consul; Chief Pharmacist L. Zembach, of the United States Naval Hospital; and his wife, and a colonel named. The hospital buildings were wrecked.

Other Americans reported killed are Lieutenant Colonel Charles Burnett, military attaché at the American Embassy in Tokio; Bess and Richard Mendel, of Cleveland; Elizabeth Dodson, of Kingston, N. C.; and W. T. Blum, of the General Electric Company. The latter was stationed in Tokio.

A dispatch from the Tokio correspondent of the Central News, received in London, says that 200,000 are dead in that city, but the correspondent of the Associated Press in

For Your Back and Kidneys

You Will Have Vigorous Vitality If You Follow This Advice
Columbus, Ohio.—"Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache) Tablets are the best medicine I have ever taken for kidney disorders. My kidneys were congested and inactive, my back ached and was so sore I could not bear to touch it. In addition to my kidneys hurting, my bladder was very weak. I wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice and upon his advice I took the Anuric Tablets and the result was wonderful. I had taken Anuric only a very short time when I was rid of all my bladder weakness and my kidneys became active and normal. I do not suffer any more with my back. I would advise those who suffer with any kidney disorder or bladder trouble to take 'Anuric' without delay."

The manufacturers of this popular remedy have published hundreds of these statements received from grateful users, and the names and addresses have always been given so that their accuracy and truthfulness can easily be verified.

Mrs. Ella Butler, of 204 1/2 East Main street, Columbus, in relating her experience with Ka-di-ok, says: "When I first took Ka-di-ok a short time ago I weighed only 119 pounds and was so weak and ill that I could hardly drag myself around. The doctors told me that I was disposed to have tubercular trouble and I was also advised that I had gall stones. I felt utterly depressed in spirits and was nervous and worried. I do not care now what the trouble was so long as I feel as well as I do today. In a few short weeks that I have taken Ka-di-ok I have a hearty appetite, have got over my nervous trouble and am feeling well and strong. My present weight is 142 pounds. I can truly say that Ka-di-ok has been a blessing to me and I gratefully recommend it to any one who may be suffering as I did."

Circus And Fight All In One Ring

(By HENRY L. FARRELL, United Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(By United Press)—From a showman's point of view, the most attractive contests that can be staged in sport are those in which international contestants can be pitted against each other.

Few really figured that Georges Carpentier had a chance to win the heavyweight championship from Jack Dempsey, but the international color was so strong that a record crowd paid a record sum to see the fight.

Perhaps there have been better races all season and no doubt there may be better races in the future than the international mile and a half race to be run between Papyrus, the English winner, and a three year old American horse at Belmont Park on October 20 but that race will draw a tremendous crowd because it is an international event.

Thousands have flocked to the Davis Cup tennis matches to see the American team defend the trophy, when there was no reason to believe that the foreign team of challengers had more than a fluke chance of victory.

For the same reasons, the coming heavyweight championship fight between Jack Dempsey and Luis Firpo has developed into a spectacle almost as attractive as the bout between the champion and the French Georges.

Critics are almost unanimous in granting Firpo only an outside chance to win the championship from Dempsey and sentiment is just as strong that a contest between the champion and Harry Wills would be more of an even match.

Firpo was Tex Rickard's choice because Tex knows fight fans and he is the shaggy headed, huge South American type of fighter that would appeal in a rather romantic way to the public.

Thousands of fans will pay thousands and thousands of dollars to see the match, because, in addition to many of its circus trimmings, it is known that as long as it lasts it will be a fight.

Once at the ringside for a big fight, the most refined and cultured spectators are thrown back into a primitive state, in which the desire for primitive fighting is paramount.

Tommy Gibbons is the greatest boxer of all the heavyweights. He is the only fighter in the world who has started fifteen rounds with Dempsey, but in spite of that, not one third of the crowd that will watch Firpo make his stand, would be attracted to another meeting between Gibbons and Dempsey.

Firpo is crude, awkward and inexperienced, but he has in him the power to knock out any man upon whom he hits. No other fighter in the ring can carry such a threat against the champion, and it is the assurance that the fight will end one way or another in a knockout, that will draw the crowd.

EDISON BY MARSHALL

OUTLINE, BROWN & COMPANY, 1923

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Ned Corbet is sent by his father, Godfrey Corbet, on a voyage to Northern Canada and Alaska to change two thousand silk and velvet gowns with the Indians for furs. The profits are to be split 75-25, the lion's share to Ned.

Corbet is accompanied on the voyage by his fiancée, Lenore Hardeworth, and the latter's mother, Bess Gilbert. He is hired to go as seaman, Mrs. Hardeworth objects to ending at the same table with Bess.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
There was such a little group of them, only eight in all. The ship was a mere dot in the expanse of the sea, swept by unknown winds, cursed by the winter's cold, like death itself in its infancy and its humming fear. The life they had left behind was already shadowed and dim: the farewell shouts, the laughter, the gaiety, the teeming crowds that moved and were never still were all like something imagined, unobtainable far off. Only the sea and the stars were left, and the craft struggling wearily, ever farther into the empty North.

Lenore found herself oppressed by an unreasonable fear. Realities were getting home to her, and she was afraid of them. It would have been wiser not to come, yet she couldn't have told why. The land was wholly covetous; she was already accustomed to the cramped quarters. The men of the crew were courteous. Ned the same devoted lover as always. The thing was more an instinct with her; such pleasure as the trip offered could not compensate for the ominous shadow over her head and heart that was never lifted. Perhaps a wish and secret self within the girl, a subconsciousness which was wise with the knowledge of the ages before ever her being emerged from the germ plasma, was even now warning her to turn back. It knew her limitations; also it knew the dreadful, savage realm she had dared to penetrate. The North would have no mercy for her if she were found unworthy.

Perhaps in her heart she realized that she represented all that was the antithesis of this far Northern domain. She was the child of luxury and ease; the tone and spirit of these wintry seas were travail and desolation. She was the proudest of a generation that knew life only as a structure that man's civilization had built; only here was life itself, raw and naked, striped and bare. She was lawless, undisciplined, knowing no code but her own desires; all these seas and the gray fog-laden shores they swept were in the iron grip of law that went down to the roots of time. She had never looked beyond the surface of things; the heart that pulsed in the breast of this wintry realm lay so deep that only the most wise and old, devotees to nature's secrets, could ever hear it best. She had the unmistakable feeling that, in an unguarded moment, she had blundered into the camp of an enemy. Ever she discerned a malevolence in the murmur of the wind, a sinister threat in the soft roars of the night.

The night, her innate sense of anxiety told her, were unspeakably beautiful. She had never seen such stars before. They were so large, so white, and yet so unutterably still. Sometimes the moon rose in a splash of silver, and its loveliness on the face of the sea was a thing that words couldn't reach. Yet Lenore did not put it in words. For all their beauty these magic nights dismayed and disquieted her. They, too, were of the realities, and for all her past life of ease and comfort, she found that realism was the one thing she could not and dared not accept. Such realities as these, the wide-stretching seas and the infinity of stars, were rapidly stripping her of her dearest illusions, and with them the very strength that had been her ally in her adventures. Standing strength for her spirit and bolstering up her self-respect with such things as pride of ancestry, social position, a certain social attitude of recklessness—these she thought were the armor of all by which she believed that life contained any depth that she had not plumbed, any terrors that she dared not brave, any situation that she could not meet and master. But here these things mattered not at all. Neither ancestry nor social position could shield her from the cold, biting already in the bitter frost of the dawn, swoop down and find her unprotected. Her own personal charm would not fight for her; she fell overboard into the icy waters. Here was a real, a real recklessness, and where life itself was suddenly revealed utterly beyond her ken. But there was no turning back. Every hour the Chiron barge her farther from her home.

Mrs. Hardeworth, whose habits of thought were more firmly fixed, was only made more irritable and peevish by the new surroundings. Never good company except under the stimulation of some social gathering, she was rapidly becoming something of a problem to Ned and Lenore. She was irritable with the crew, on the constant change of outfit to Bess, foraging disaster for food and shelter. Unlike Bess, who had never been disciplined to meet hardship and danger; her only resource was guile and her only courage was recklessness; so now she tried to overcome her attitude toward life. It was no longer necessary for her to be a shelter for the shelter of the pilot house for their their whiskey-and-soda. She was only too glad to take it with them. More than once the dinner hour found her, glassy-eyed and almost hysterical, only a border removed from actual drunkenness. Never possessing any true moral strength or real good breeding, a certain abandon began to appear in her speech. And they had not yet rounded the Alaskan Peninsula into Berling Sea.

To Ned, the long north and westward journey had been more a revelation. He also knew the fear, the disillusionment, a swift sense of weakness when before he had been perfectly sure in his own strength; but there was also a more complex reaction—one that he could not analyze or put into words. He couldn't call it happiness. It wasn't that, unless the mood that follows the hearing of wonderful music is also happiness. Perhaps that was the best comparison; the passion he felt was something like the response made to great music. There had been times at the opera when all conditions were exactly favorable, that he had felt the same, and once when he had heard Fritz Kreisler play Handel's "Largo." It was a strange reaching and groping, rather than happy, it was a stir and thrill that touched the most sacred chords of his being. He felt it most at night when the great, white northern stars wheeled through the heavens. It was good to see them undisturbed by smoke; they touched some side of him that had never been stirred into life before. At such times the sea was lost in mystery.

The truth was that Ned, by the will the Red Gods, was perceiving something of the real spirit of the North. A sensitive man at start with he caught something of its mystery and wonder of which, as yet, Lenore had no glimpse. And the result was to bring him to the verge of the same discovery that of his own weakness.

He had never admitted weakness before. He had always been so sure of himself, so confident, so self-sufficient. But curiously these things were dying within him. He found himself doubting for the first time. Could he cope with the realities that were beginning to press upon him? Would not this northern wilderness show him up as the weakling he was?

For the first time in his life Ned

Corbet knew what realism was. He supposed, in his city life, that he had been a realist; instead he had only been a sophist and a mocker in an environment that was never real from dawn to darkness. He had read books that he had acclaimed among his young friends as masterpieces of realism—usually works whose theme was mystery and mystery the same sense of gathering, impending trial and stress.

To Plan For State-Wide Health Campaign In The Buckeye State

Representatives of local health and civic organizations of ten counties in Southern Ohio are to meet at the Welfare House in Chillicothe next Tuesday, September 11, to discuss plans for participation in a statewide health campaign in Ohio this fall in connection with the 16th annual Christmas seal sale.

This is the second of a series of ten district conferences arranged by the Ohio Public Health Association for the purpose of perfecting a thorough organization of the state in advance of the campaign. An intensive campaign of education, emphasizing the importance of periodic health examinations as a means of detecting tuberculosis and other diseases, is to precede the sale of the tuberculosis Christmas seals which starts as usual on December 1 and continues until Christmas.

Dr. G. E. Robins, health commissioner of Chillicothe will preside at the Chillicothe meeting. These counties will be represented: Jackson, Highland, Lawrence, Scioto, Adams, Gallia, Pickaway, Pike, Vinton, and Ross.

Big Outing Saturday

Plans are still going forward for the big picnic at Millbrook, Saturday afternoon and evening, for the Churches of Christ of the city and county. The champion horseshoe pitchers will be determined, the game committee will be on the job, and other contests, and the New Boston folk will have plenty of lemonade for all. The supper hour will be attractive and those who miss this wholesome event will always be sorry.

Your friend has a place for you in his machine, and if not the street car service will be fine on this day and excuses for staying away will be few and far between. The picnic will be the only big event of the year and it is planned to arrange to make it an annual affair.

John R. Williams, L. L. Craden and T. L. Wall have been appointed by the committee in charge to look after the fun and there is no doubt there will be plenty of it.

Fix Goal At 900

In planning for the fall campaign in the Bible school at First Christian, corner Third and Gay streets, the officers decided to hold the first fall rally on September 9, and set the goal at 900. This will be the first step toward building the school up to its record of past years in the way of attendance.

In order to make the day one of extraordinary attractiveness, they committed has been very fortunate in securing Rev. Hugh I. Evans, pastor of Second Presbyterian church, to teach the lesson in the adult department.

As a teacher and speaker, Rev. Evans needs no commendation to the members of First Christian, having fellowshiped with them in many of their meetings, and in order to draw the folk in from the various parts of the city the mere announcement that he is to teach will be sufficient.

Each class is asked to put forth every effort to greet Rev. Evans with a cordy number and no doubt the various classes, especially of the adult department will be well filled for this occasion.

The evening service will be resumed Sunday evening at 7:30.

of falsehood. Here were the true realities—unconquerable seas and starry skies and winds from off the wastes of space.

Unlike Lenore, Ned's regrets were not that he had ever launched forth upon the venture. Rather he found himself regretting that he was not better fitted to contend with it. Perhaps, after all, his father had been right, and perhaps he was wrong. For the first time in his life Ned felt the need of greater strength, of stronger sinews.

What if his father had told the truth, and that strict trials awaited him there. It was no longer easy to disbelieve him. Almost any disaster could fall upon him here, in these wastes of sunlit water, in the very shadow of polar ice. The sun itself had lost its warmth. It slanted down upon them from far to the south, and it seemed to be beguiling them, with its golden beauty on the waters, into some deadly trap that had been set for them still farther north. It left Ned some way apprehensive and dismayed. He wished he hadn't been so sure of himself, that he had taken greater pains, in his wasted years, to harden and train himself. Perhaps he was to be at the end of the balance, and it was increasingly hard to believe that he would not be found wanting.

In such a mood he recalled his father's words regarding that dread realm of test and trial that lay ahead where beyond the world "some bitter, dreadful training camp for those that leave this world unfitted to go on to a higher, better world." He had scorned the thought at first, but now he could hardly get it out of his mind. It suggested some sense of analogy with his present condition. These empty seas were playing tricks on his imagination; he could conceive that the journey of which his father had spoken might not be so greatly different than this. There would be the same desolation, the same nearness of the stars, the emptiness and mystery, the same sense of gathering, impending trial and stress.

Nuxated Iron Will Increase Strength of Delicate People In Two Weeks Time

In many instances says City Physician persons have suffered for years without knowing what made them feel tired, listless and run-down when their real trouble was lack of iron in the blood—how to tell.

If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron and who are ill for no other reason than the lack of iron. The moment iron is supplied a multitude of mysterious symptoms disappear. With iron the blood at once loses its power to change food into living tissue and therefore nothing you eat does you good; you don't get the strength out of it. Your body merely passes through the rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. As a result of this continuous blood and nerve starvation, people become generally weak, nervous and all run down and frequently develop all sorts of conditions. One is too thin; another is burdened with unhealthy fat; some are so weak they can hardly walk; some think they have dyspepsia, indigestion or liver trouble; some can't sleep at night; others are sleepy and tired all day; some fuzzy and irritable; some skinned and bloodless, but all lack physical power and endurance. In such cases it is worse than foolish to take stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs which only whip up your flagging vital powers for the moment, maybe at the expense of your life later on. No matter what anyone tells you, if you are too strong and well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day. After waiting for two weeks then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. You can talk as you please about all the wonders wrought by your checks and good sound health down to hard facts there is nothing like good old iron to put color in your cheeks and good sound health in your bones. It is also a great nerve and stomach strengthener and one of the best blood builders in the world. The only trouble was that the old form of inorganic iron like ferrous sulfate, ferrous chloride, etc., often ruined people's teeth, upset their stomachs and were not assimilated and absorbed. The new Nuxated Iron, however, is of the organic form of iron, and it is almost immediately beneficial. Manufacturers' Note—Nuxated Iron which is recommended above is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to all chemists, everywhere. It is like the older inorganic iron products and is easily assimilated, but it does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers' satisfaction results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists—Advertisement.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, room, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—I was very much interested in the carrier pigeon that was released at the Columbia Theatre, and the fact that it was going back to New York. Now Dolly, just how did that pigeon know where New York is located? In other words, how did it know which way to go? Pigeons haven't the sense to know east from west, or north from south. Why didn't it go west, instead of east? Just how do they determine direction when they have nothing to go by?

I imagine they determine direction by a combination of keen eyesight and instinct. That is the way birds and animals do things.

Dear Dolly—We are puzzled over a question which proved very serious to us. We would like to know if it is correct to ask a young man to wait again, when he is leaving our home after an evening's visit.

TWO IGNORANCES
Sure, it is all right to say "come back again sometime." You need not mention any certain time, and if they want a date it is up to them to ask when they can see you again, or something to that effect. I will answer your other question later.

Dear Dolly—Please tell me what day of the week August 12, 1883 came on. Also, how many old Civil War soldiers are living in the United States.

HISTORY PUPIL
August 30, 1883 came on Sunday. On June 30, 1922, there were 745,822 Civil War veterans on the pension roll, but of course quite a number of them have passed away since that time.

Jackson, Ohio—Dear Dolly—Will you please tell me how to get to Peabody from Pikeston. I live here in Jackson and I want to go to Peabody in a few days and would like to know about how to get there and what places I will go through. Also how are the roads from Pikeston to Manchester?

H. S.
I understand the road is not very good from Pikeston to Peabody, and I believe it would pay you to come through Portsmouth and then go to Peabody through Henley, Otway and Garden. When you come to Minford take the road over the Divide thru Munn's Run to Portsmouth and then take the West Side route past the Country Club to Henley. They can probably give you the best route to Manchester when you get to Peabody.

Dear Dolly—I am a reader of the Times and I like to look over your column every night, as I can see so many advice that you give to others, and now I would like to ask a few questions. Dolly, what can be done with the middle-aged neighbors on our street? We live in the North End and must say that our street takes the prize when it comes to meddling in other people's business. I suppose they have nothing else to do, and they haven't brains enough to read or get interested in the big things that are going on in the wide world and they amuse themselves by sitting out on their front porches and watching every move their neighbors make.

They don't stop there, they have gone so far as to call up the police and tell them the neighbors are fighting just to start a little excitement. If they don't get enough out of that to satisfy the craving of a depraved mind they will call up the husbands of some of the women on the street and tell them to hurry home quick as their wives have been taken sick suddenly. Can you beat enjoyment like that? Dolly, who could I report people like that to? I think they are a nuisance in any neighborhood. Do you have any DISGUISED NEIGHBORS?

The next time they call the police out, I think this respectable neighbors on your street should get together and tell the officers just who's who, and just what kind of people they have to deal with. You could also tell them to warn these people to watch their step or they will get into trouble.

Dear Dolly—Will you please print a recipe for cucumber relish?

TIMES READER
Cucumber relish—Twelve large cucumbers, six onions, two green peppers, two yellow peppers, (remove seeds from peppers) chop fine; add three fourths cup of salt, and let stand over night. In the morning drain thoroughly; add one half cup of grated horse radish, one heaping teaspoon of celery seed, one teaspoon of mustard seed, one cup of sugar, one teaspoon each of cinnamon, cloves and allspice (enclosed in a muslin bag), and enough vinegar to make very moist. Boil ten or fifteen minutes and seal.

The following from the North Adams (Mass.) Evening Transcript of Saturday, September 1, will be read with interest, as Miss Rideout is a daughter of the late Mr. P. E. Rideout, who was formerly identified with the local Y. M. C. A.:
"The rooms of the North Adams Girls' club, which have been closed throughout the summer season, will be reopened tomorrow, and in the afternoon and evening the club members will meet at the rooms to greet their new executive secretary, Miss Margaret Rideout. She arrived in the city yesterday and the work that has been done here was explained in detail by Miss George Brown, who held the position previously and there were informal conferences with many of the club's leaders. Miss Rideout will officially begin her duties with the informal reception in her honor this afternoon and evening.

"Her home is in Portsmouth, Ohio, but for several years past she has lived in Chicago, Ill. She did industrial work in the Y. M. C. A. of Chicago and also engaged in settlement work in that city. Studying for two years at the Recreational school connected with Hull House, she also had opportunity for considerable work along lines that will benefit her here. She also graduated from the Teachers' Training college in Chicago, studying the Pestalozzi-Froebel methods.

"She has taken an important part in dramatics and is also much interested in all forms of athletics, having specialized in folk dancing and team games. Her work in indoor recreation, mixed recreation and girls' recreational games has been commended. She was highly recommended to the local club by Mrs. Neva L. Boyd, head of the Recreational school, and had the highest endorsement from officials of the Massachusetts League of Girls' Clubs with which the North Adams club is connected.

Miss Prediger (Dressmaker) will leave Sunday for Chicago to attend the annual convention of the Fashion Art League of America, a National Association of dressmakers and modistes, to study the new fall and winter modes, materials and trimmings. She will be glad to make special purchases of materials for any of her customers who would desire her to do so. Telephone 697-N. Adv. 5-2t

Former Manchester Boy Killed By Auto

MANCHESTER, O., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Times.)—Word was received here last night of the accidental death of Charles Foster, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Foster, of near Kansas City, who suffered a fractured skull when struck by an automobile Wednesday afternoon while on a road near Greenville, Darke county. The boy died later in Richmond, Ind., four miles from where the accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Foster and family of three children, former residents of Manchester, had been here on a two weeks' visit and were en route home to their farm near Kansas City, where they had lived for several years.

News of the fatal accident was received by Mr. and Mrs. George Creanier here, parents of Mrs. Foster. The boy was on the road watching an airplane flying low over the National Highway when he was struck by an automobile driven by G. W. Fisk, Jr., of Louisville. Coroner S. Edgar Bond returned a verdict of accidental death on finding that the lad stepped into the path of the machine. Fisk was exonerated.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Physician's Discovery Safely Reduces It To Normal and Dizzy Spells Disappear

If your blood pressure is too high you cannot pass a life insurance examination. Perhaps you don't know whether you have this trouble or not, but if you have occasional dizzy spells, shortness of breath, pains in the head, hot flashes, are nervous, moody or don't sleep well, your blood pressure is probably higher than it ought to be even if you don't realize it.

The figures for past months have been mounting to unusual heights so Clerk Shonkwiler took the figures for the past eight months and they showed a total amount of $22,328.10 turned over to the city from the court. This is more than was turned over to the city in the whole of two previous years. The total for the two years was about $15,000.

It is estimated that the city's share of fines and fees for the 12 months of the year will amount to about $30,000. The operating expenses of the court are about $7,000 a year, which means there will be a "profit" of about $23,000 the city will realize from Municipal Court this year.

M. E. Pulpit Changes Loom

Rev. J. B. Hawk, district superintendent of the Methodist Church, will leave today for Columbus for a meeting of the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Church. He will be succeeded by Bishop Wm. F. Anderson of the Cincinnati area. Purpose of the meeting is to arrange appointments within the area. Considerable local interest attaches to the conference of church officials, as it has been rumored lately that each M. E. minister is desiring changes. A considerable number of appointment changes seem certain, it was said on the eve of Dr. Hawk's departure for Columbus.

A quarterly conference of Bigelow church was held last night, with Dr. Hawk in attendance. Church affairs at Ironton and Chesapeake Methodist churches are in fine shape, according to Rev. Hawk, who returned yesterday to Portsmouth from holding quarterly conferences there. Finances are in the best shape in years, with larger budgets than ever before. At each of the churches heavy invitations were extended by the congregations to the minister to remain for the forthcoming church year.

To Use Tar Penetration Material To Keep Dust Down On Columbus-Portsmouth Road

The Columbus Dispatch says: "The new policies are to be tried by the Ohio highway department under the administration of Highway Director Louis A. Baulay. One of them is the spraying of old foundations and roadbeds where resurfacing with hard materials is to be done. The other is the attempt to alloy the dust evil on gravel highways."

The experiment with the dust prevention is to be made on the Columbus-Chillicothe-Portsmouth Pike, one of the most heavily traveled highways in Ohio. A form of tar penetration is to be used and, if successful, it is believed will do much to allay the opposition to gravel highways.

State Highway Engineer George F. Schlossinger is working on plans that will result in the future in saving foundations of old roads in the building of new ones. He contends that huge savings can be made in reconstruction of worn out roads. In the past, many of the foundations have been dug out entirely before new roads were built. The resultant expense was enormous.

Money loaned at 6 per cent on Portsmouth improved real estate. No loans made on less than 5 rooms and bath.

Wage Adjustments Up Before Gary And Conferees

NEW YORK, September 6.—(By The Associated Press.)—Albert Gary, Chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, announced late Wednesday, his concern was conferring with heads of subsidiary companies on adjustment of wage rates. He declined to indicate whether upward or downward revision was contemplated or whether the adjustment had any bearing on the elimination of the twelve hour day from the industry.

"We have been meeting today with our presidents on adjustment of wage rates," said Mr. Gary. "Of course there are a great number of questions to consider. We have nothing whatever to publish about it, because readjustment is going on satisfactorily without any serious friction and nothing should be said to disturb our very good relations with our men."

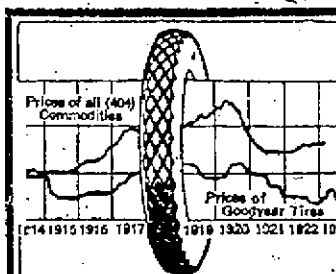

From other sources it was learned that today's decision concerned the wages of men whose hours were reduced from 12 to ten. When elimination of the 12 hour day was begun, it affected 90,000 men in all, but a good number had their hours reduced from 2 to 3 and received a 25 per cent wage increase. This class was engaged in what was known as continuous processes. Figures were not available here tonight to show the number of men whose daily working hours were reduced only by law.

A wet street this morning resulted in an accident at the intersection of Front and Main streets, when the light rear wheel and the gas tank on a Dodge touring car, belonging to the Independent Taxi company, were smashed against a sign in front of the Price pool room on Front street. The sign was demolished.

The driver of the car, George Collins, says he was going east on Front street and on account of a mule team turning around in the middle of the street he did not see that the street had been blocked because of sickness in the square. When he realized that the street was blocked, he says he tried to turn north into Main street and skidded onto the sidewalk.

Fight Pictures Seized

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—Motion pictures of Dempsey-Cloones fight at Shelby, Mo., which were seized by federal authorities last night, were taken before the Federal Grand Jury today by Assistant District Attorney Wells, who indicated that jurors would be asked to indict James J. McGrath, promoter, charged with bringing the films here, from Butte, Mont., in view of the federal law prohibiting interstate shipment of fight pictures.

The pictures were exhibited all day yesterday at a downtown theatre. McGrath previously had obtained an injunction to prevent any interference by city authorities.

Subpoenas were issued for the moving picture machine operators at the theatre to appear with the films and they were taken possession of by the federal marshal at the close of the night showing.

League Averts

cerned above all things with saving the League of Nations and preventing any dangerous split.

No meeting of the council was held this morning, but its members consulted privately in an attempt to reach a tentative accord with regard to procedure and the attitude to be adopted at the next formal meeting which may possibly be convened this afternoon. There has been extensive telegraphing by all the delegates to their home governments, asking definite instructions, which has been the question of the day, which has moved all interest from problems figuring on the agenda of the conference.

M. Politis, former foreign minister under Venizelos, and chief representative of Greece, said today that the tension seemed to have lightened somewhat, but he added that the problem of the Italian occupation of Corfu Island offered supreme difficulties. Much interest is felt here in possible action by the Council of Ambassadors in Paris, to whom Greece also has appealed.

GENEVA, September 6.—(By the A. P.)—The superstructure of the League of Nations, of which an American president was the chief architect, is imperilled, and in the British view this very foundation of present day Europe are shaken. Such, briefly, is a summary of the situation at Geneva today because of Italy's refusal to recognize the right of the league of nations to intervene in her dispute with Greece.

Cox Urges League To Act

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—The duty of the League of Nations, which now is facing the stern problem of acting in the Italian-Greek complications, is too clear to waste words over, Former Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, declared in a statement last night. With the great moral forces of the world behind it, the League is in a position where by the exercise of its powers, it can save peace and save itself at the same time, he said.

"If any country, itself a signatory to the treaty, seizes territory under the guise of action in behalf of its national honor, and refuses thereby to be bound by its own agreement to withhold a military offensive until arbitration has failed, it becomes an outlaw in the international view, and the only organization to offer restraint is the League," he added.

Adoption of the suggested resistance to the international Court or the Council of Ambassadors, whether intended or not, would impair the very base stone of the League.

Secretary

Most important for a private secretary, however, if he is to be the "mouthpiece of the White House, is to know the mind of his chief. Both Joseph P. Tumulty and George H. Brown knew their respective presidents intimately—they could almost guess their minds before action would be taken.

Mr. Coolidge has with him as personal secretary, Edward Clarke who was before that was secretary to Senator Lodge for many years. He too knows his way about the national capital.

The retention of two secretaries is somewhat unusual but Mr. Clarke will be carried on the White House payroll as one of the executive clerks.

Mr. Stump's first day had an atmosphere of politics in it. Senator James Watson of Indiana was one of the callers. He happened in to see Mr. Coolidge.

"What did you and the President talk about?" the Senator asked, from Indiana was asked as he emerged from the executive office.

"Well, I told him I was going to Missouri to make a speech to the Republicans there," replied the Senator, "and I asked him if he had any message. He told me to tell them to get together."

It was only a week ago when Jim Watson went to the White House to pay his respects to Mr. Coolidge. On leaving he said the President had talked to him about the necessity of getting the Republican party united.

"I told the President," remarked Senator Watson, "that he was certainly talking to the right people."

Senator Watson was chairman of the Resolutions committee of the 1920 convention which drew up the national platform. He is one of the most interesting political personalities in the Senate. It was he who made the first speech in the Senate predicting the re-election of Mr. Harding.

At one time he was being mentioned as a possible candidate himself.

The chances are the mention of any one as a rival to Mr. Coolidge will be delayed for some time to come—at least until the strength of the present incumbent with the party is definitely determined. Just now they desire Mr. Coolidge's term prolonged. Mr. Stump may have an easy job of it judging by present appearances for not a ripple of opposition can be discerned by political eyes anywhere, and President Coolidge, while taking no part in the further of his own political fortunes is constantly preaching a doctrine of party unity which his friends think will help him materially in the next session of Congress.

A cargo of wheat was cleared from Portland, Oregon, yesterday on the steamer Kobe Maru for Nagoya and Yokohama. It amounted to 351,356 bushels.

Quake Shocks

The fleet are believed to have already brought Americans into the stricken area, dispatches to the navy department from Admiral Anderson, commander of the fleet, indicating that the first group of destroyers had arrived at Yokohama. Other army and navy vessels are either loading or enroute from Manila and other points in the Far East with relief supplies.

William Gergens Is Claimed By Death

Service Director Answers Last Call

William Gergens, service director, and for many years a well known and highly regarded citizen of this city passed away at 1 p. m. in Hempstead Hospital Thursday. Announcement of his death will come as a shock to his friends many of whom did not realize the seriousness of his condition.

In an effort to stay the hand of death Mr. Gergens submitted to an operation Wednesday afternoon and apparently passed through the ordeal nicely. However, he suffered a relapse this morning.

Relatives were called to the bedside and soon after the noon hour he passed to his final reward. Mr. Gergens' death was attributed to acute Bright's disease which attacked him a week ago almost without warning. He was then removed to the hospital from his home, 1029 Fourteenth Street. For several days his condition showed improvement, but owing to his advanced age, it was only temporary. He was able to take a short walk as late as Tuesday and for several hours sat on a bench in front of the hospital and greeted friends as they passed by. He expressed the belief to them that he would in a few days be back at his desk in the city building, but it was not to be. He died with loved ones at his bedside and the end came peacefully this afternoon.

When Mayor Gableman heard of Mr. Gergens' passing, he said: "Portsmouth not only loses a capable and efficient official, but a splendid citizen. I am indeed grieved over the death of Mr. Gergens whom I regarded as an ideal official, one who saw his duty and performed it without fear or favor."

Mr. Gergens served as service director under Mayor Frick in 1914-15 and he was serving his fourth year under Mayor Gableman's administration.

Mr. Gergens, who was nearing his 71st year, was born near Picketon, Ohio, and came to Portsmouth when a young man, he was married in Chillicothe to Mrs. Hannah Hesse, who passed away four years ago. To their happy union three sons and a daughter were born, two surviving, John, of Columbus, and Edward, who resided with his father on Fourteenth Street.

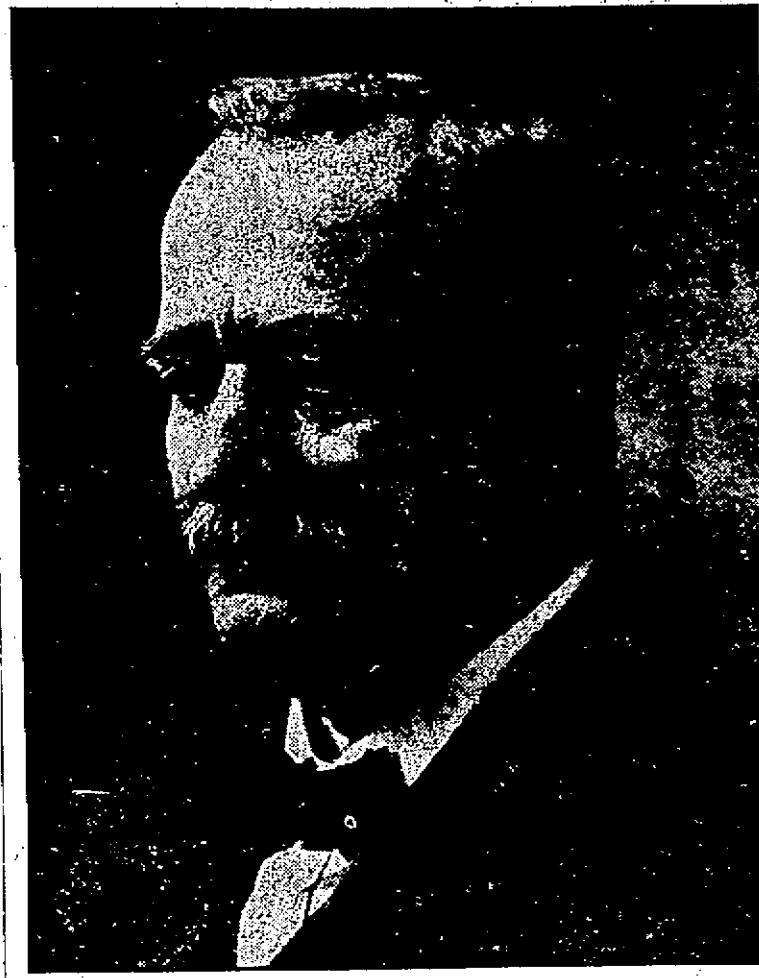

Mr. Gergens also leaves a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Kauffman, of Nashville, Tenn., and a brother Martin, of Indianapolis, and two granddaughters, Catherine and Emma Knowles, of Findlay Street.

Mr. Gergens came to Portsmouth with his family in 1888 and for over 30 years was employed in various capacities in the Selby Shoe plant, being regarded as a splendid all around shoemaker. A strong adherent to the policies of Democracy, he always took an active part in politics and when Adam Frick was elected mayor of Portsmouth in 1914 he rewarded Mr. Gergens' party loyalty by naming him as his service director. He fitted so eloquently into the duties of this office that he was reappointed when Mayor Gableman was elected to his first term four years ago.

Mr. Gergens ran for mayor on the Democratic ticket in 1917, but was defeated by Mayor Kays. He made a splendid race and received a heavy vote, but not sufficient to win. His wife passed away four years ago and just six weeks before her death, his son, William, a well known shoemaker, died very suddenly.

Mr. Gergens was congenial and affable at all times, and possessed countless friends in the city, who will regret the passing of so splendid a citizen. He was a home-loving man and his happiest moments came when he was surrounded by his family.

He was a member of the Central Presbyterian Church and was active in its affairs. He was also a member of the Ben Hur and I. O. O. F. Lodges of this city.

Milk Price Raised

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—The price of milk was increased one cent, to 13 cents a quart, here today. The price of plants remains unchanged, at 7 cents. Dairy companies say the increase was due to the fact that the price paid to producers has been raised.

Removal Home

Miss Nellie Freeland was removed today from her father's home at 1218 Eleventh Street, in Richmond, to her home on York street, New Boston.

Manager Adam Frick Thursday sent the following communication to the Ironton Chamber of Commerce: The Chamber of Commerce, Ironton, Ohio.

My Dear Sirs:

The surface having been completed covering the last of the mile in Scoto County of its brick roadway, and this splendid artery soon to open for traffic leading on to the metropolitan centers of the great Atlantic seaboard might warrant some fitting recognition of this accomplishment.

May we not suggest that in as much as the two Valley cities have been disconnected for an unusual length of time owing to the extremely bad road conditions that we by publication advise of a date certain and request as many citizens as may find it convenient to drive over this improved highway and thereafter meet at some agreed place for exchanging pleasantries and again shake the hand of our neighbor and indulge in whatever other festivities may be agreed upon.

If you will find it convenient to give this question consideration and later advise us just what in your opinion may be deemed best to do, we will appreciate it very much and assist in arranging some satisfactory plan whereby the completion of this roadway may be brought to public attention.

Very truly,
THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
Per Adam Frick, Manager.

May Sell Marting Hotel Stocks

Wednesday's Ironton Register had the following local interest:

Negotiations looking to the sale of Dr. A. Clark Lowry's holdings in the Marting Hotel are under way, and unless a hitch occurs in the proceedings, his holdings, approximately $185,000, will be purchased by one or two gentlemen of this city. Whether or not these purchasers have accepted in the deal is not known. The acquisition of this stock would give these gentlemen control of the hotel and its administration. The negotiations for the passing of this block of stock have been under way for several days and it has been pretty generally discussed. Definite announcement of the successful sale will doubtless be made within a short time.

Dr. Lowry personally holds 520 shares of the stock. Mrs. Lowry holds 755 shares, and Mrs. Marting holds 68 shares, a total of 1,860 shares, par value, $185,000. Just what the sale price is to be, we have, not

German Marks Quoted At 2 and 1-2 Cents a Million

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Prices continued through an upward course as the opening today's stock market. Davidson Chemical opened higher and then extended its gain to 2½ points. Gains of a point or more on initial transactions were registered by Bethlehem Steel, American Woolen, Nickel Plate common and preferred, Copper, Sulf and Cerro de Pasco Copper.

While a number of individual stocks, influenced by favorable news and pool operations were bid up sharply during the morning, the market presented a somewhat spotty appearance after the initial burst of strength. Weakness was expressed in the continued overproduction, the Pan-American issues each losing five points. Foundation Company dropped 3 points, presumably in reflection of speculative fear of possible losses in Japan, where the company was working on several contracts. Unsettledness was also evidenced by the failure to respond to reports of record car loadings. Tobacco showed moderate strength. Call money opened at 5 per

Curb Market Irregular

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The curb market today was irregular, some of the industrials making further advances while the majority of issues traded in were in supply at the most prominent feature was the continued advance of the Glen Alden Coal which made a further advance of over two points, most of the buying being attributed to the heavy interests understood to represent controlling interests in Delaware, Lackawanna and Western.

Reading flight however, were neglected, a small amount of business was transacted, although material changes in price indicated.

Safety Razor maintained a strong tone and advanced two points in the early trading. Chicago Nipple reflected the market for a completion of settlement of accounts and made a fractional advance on a large volume of business.

Transactions were made in United Steel at 14 1/2 and in the preference at 14 1/2. The market was about an equal level with the exception of iron products which is reorganized into the new company. Standard Oil issues acted in a disappointing manner, transacting group yesterday being followed by a heavy tone today, chiefly because of heavy offerings of Standard Oil of California, declined at one point. Standard Oil of New York after making a fractional advance also became heavy and showed a fractional decline.

Vacuum Oil was strong, moved up on pool selling, while the independent oil group was continued pressure against. Marcellus of Mexico, which moved up slightly about a week ago advancing about 5 was in supply at and in 3.

Downward Trend Shown By Wheat

CHICAGO, Sept. 6—With spring wheat beginning to move in volume from farms, the wheat market showed something of a downward tendency in price today, during the early dealings. A decline in Liverpool quotations counted as an additional bearish influence and so too did predictions of increased hedging here against Canadian grain. In the absence of any aggressive selling however, declines failed to get very far.

ON WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Unlike most disasters the Japanese earthquake has had a beneficial effect on steel prices. The market had sagged on the first news and then moved upward, as speculators for the advance endeavored to discount the benefits that would accrue to American companies as a result of orders for steelwork in Japan.

Stricken areas. Steels were bid up sharply in expectations that large quantities will be needed for reconstruction, while textiles advanced on the theory that large quantities of raw silk were destroyed and prices here would consequently be affected.

Loeb and Company. The price was 50% and accrued interest to yield 10 per cent.

The proceeds will be used to retire the $50,000,000 of 7 per cent notes which mature October 1.

The August output of the Baldwin Locomotive Works approximated $12,500,000, a new high record.

John J. Watson Jr., has been elected president of the International Agricultural Corporation succeeding Stephen B. Fleming, resigned.

The Jordan Motor Car Company

Public offerings of a $55,000,000 issue of six months six per cent treasury notes of the Argentine government were offered here today by a banking syndicate headed by Kuhn, today declared a special dividend of $5 on common stock in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 1 1/4 per cent on preferred. This is the first dividend on common stock since 1922.

Ketter Names New Deputy

Horace Belont, Sclatoville young man, has accepted a position as assistant in the office of Recorder Ritsell Ketter, who assumed the office last Monday, succeeding Carl P. Bauer. The new deputy is a capable young man and no doubt will prove a valuable addition to the force of assistants in the recorder's office.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—The earthquake which struck Japan last Saturday was the most severe since 1854, and caused tremendous property damage. COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press).—A rebuke against the policies of State Prohibition Commissioner McDonald and his force of inspectors, was hurled from the bench today by Municipal Judge Seidel when Oak Hibbetts, a negro, was about to be arraigned on a charge of illegally possessing a bottle of whisky and carry them in open account.

Weekly Market Summary

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Hardware Age, in its weekly summary of the hardware markets, will say tomorrow:

Jobbers in some sections of the country are said to be urging dealers to place their orders for winter merchandise as early and as fully as possible because it is reported that there are possibilities of shortages in some of the essential seasonal and staple lines.

"As there are at present no serious basic shortages, the attitude of dealers seems to be one of confidence to the warning that has been issued and consequently business more or less sluggish at present though orders for fall merchandise are numerous.

"Jobbers' figures showing the volume of August sales have not been completed, but it is considered certain that they will show a substantial increase over those of 1922."

CAUTIOUS CAL

OVER in Washington the Republican politicians deprecate allude to President Calvin Coolidge as "Cautious Cal."

It isn't the practice of the new executive to make any hasty commitments, or effusive promises. He waits until the time comes for action and then acts, generally with startling abruptness.

In this connection his admirers say he is going to honor two policies of his predecessor by a complete and continuous breach of them. The Harding administration was notorious for its literary bureau activities and for the pronouncements from "higher-ups," with presidential approval. Coolidge, so the word is, will curb the literary bureau down to bare bones and no "feelers," such as, embarrassed the Harding regime and called for so many disavowals on its part, will be put out. When the administration forms a policy it will announce it and stick to it, while caution may be blown to the winds.

That's fine, it is, indeed, a most admirable departure, if adhered to, from "Harding policies." It will, at least, let the country know definitely what it may expect.

THE AUTHORITIES SPEAK

DELEGATES to the World's War Veterans' Association, assembled at Brussels, Belgium, have passed resolutions unanimously approving France's occupation of the Ruhr. These veterans won the victory, they should and do know better than others what should be its fruits.

The fact is becoming more and more apparent with the passage of each day that Germany was making no effort whatsoever to meet her liabilities, fixed by the result of appeal to arms, and never meant to pay a cent, if she could possibly avoid doing so. The matter of the occupancy of the Ruhr could be settled now and Germany be settling her obligations, had England not turned her back on her comrade countries. Her course there stiffened the backbone of Germany, which also, from an attack assumed by the Republican candidates and leaders in the presidential campaign, had a false hope that she could secure at least the "moral" support of the United States in resisting collections. Standing staunchly together France and Belgium trapped England so she has to come back with them and back of them, while Germany being now convinced of no possible aid from America, sees all chance of further evasion vanish. Before September ends she will have accepted the inevitable, and begin paying the bills.

THE PARTY OVER THE PEOPLE

THE law is a queer institution; the interpretation of the law, by some officials, is queerer still. But let it be said the law is impersonal, while the interpretation of the law is too often personal, made, it might seem, to fit self or party.

We are minded of this by a situation arising in Wyoming, a village adjoining Cincinnati. A candidate, Jones, we will call him, having forgotten his name, qualified for the primary as a Republican candidate for village constable. He wasn't at all popular. To point their objection to him voters wrote in the name of Smith for constable. The count showed Smith got 121 votes, Jones only 71. Now it so happens that Smith is a Democrat, making the humiliation of Jones all the greater and being in fact a stigma upon the Republican party, the village end of which is owned in Cincinnati, no, in New York, by Stud Hynicka, due and lawful successor to Boss George B. Cox. This was a condition not to be endured. Therefore appeal was made to the county prosecutor of Hamilton county to find if there were ridance of it. He obligingly turned in an opinion that there was, aye, forsooth there was no inflection existing in law. The prima facie nomination of Smith was null and void, because abinitio, which is law, for from the beginning, it was an impossibility. Primaries are made to nominate party candidates, not to get at the choice of the voters thereof. Therefore, legally speaking, it was reductio absurdum, utterly absurd, to qualify a Democrat for a Republican primary, especially a Democrat who wasn't afraid in a principality of the Cox gang to assert he is a Democrat. Votes for Smith were not worth the scraps of paper they were written on. Jones was the only man voted for in legal effect and therefore he was the nominee of the Republican party for the high and mighty honor of village constable.

Well, let it go at that. The opinion may be good law, or correct interpretation of a bad law. The voters will have another whack at Jones in November and they can then register their opinion of the decision.

Huntington's Tri-State Fair advertises "$50,000 in premiums, purses and attractions." Grand, but we have just a bit of curiosity to know what the figures on attractions are.

The people of other lands like our ample ways with our money, but they do not love our manners. In a recent world's conference of the Red Cross, at Geneva, resolutions from the regular committee animadverted in strong language upon America's domineering ways and showed a spirit of resentment equal to anything except refusing our coin.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Salutations in Gotham change with the season. Just now it is "Howdy-doo!" It comes from Broadway and has taken on with snappy salutes. Last winter it was "Cheerio!" Poor old "Hello!" it seems, has been completely abandoned.

When I first came to New York it was considered snobbish for one to greet an acquaintance with "Howdy-doo!" And then came: "How's every little thing?" After that "Greetings!" and no matter what time of day, "Top o' the morning!" Just now one does not have to make any conversational salvo. They know Mary Pickford when she had only one glycerine tear. And they ride to hounds. Gay dogs, gay dogs. But watch your dusk.

They are at their best when they drift from the mid-town brokerage offices in the late afternoon. The market has always been perfectly rotten. But they are brave. Quite! After all what's a few thousand. (It one hasn't got it.)

Something is always the matter with their car. That is one of their town cars. Can't get the parts for them and it is the last imported bus they will buy. After that they take a one lung taxi home—unless somebody suggests buying dinner. Just to get a divorce. Really bore. One loses their best friend sometimes by marrying. Great little guy—but too good for me. Well, must be going. Got to ride a jumper at Aqueduct for one of those charity things. Wise ones. No end!

"Humpty McGann gave one of his 'elite balls at Hannigan's Hall,' on the East Side the other night and not a throat was slit. Manhattan is getting reformed. In the old days the 'East Side spiel' was good for at least a dozen knock-down and drag outs. At midnight they used to declare a minute's recess to bury the dead and each guest brought his own sawdust. When the music started if Bill O'Rourke asked Gold Tooth Bessie, the pride of Hell's Kitchen, if he might 'borrow' her frame for the next struggle, he would probably have Bessie's girl friend, Miss Nabb, shooting from both hips about the middle of the dance.

The Ananias Club. "I'd rather take a bath in a nice clean tub, with plenty of soap, than go swimming down in the creek," declared the "regular boy" to his mother, as he prepared for his Saturday night plunge.

Inquisitive. Willie—"Pa!" Father—"Yes, Willie." Willie—"Pa, how is it that my hair has grown longer than yours when yours has grown so much longer than mine?"

Later He'll Run Into Debt. The man stopped in front of the motor car salesroom and looked at a car in the window being offered at a bargain price. After a while he turned and entered the place.

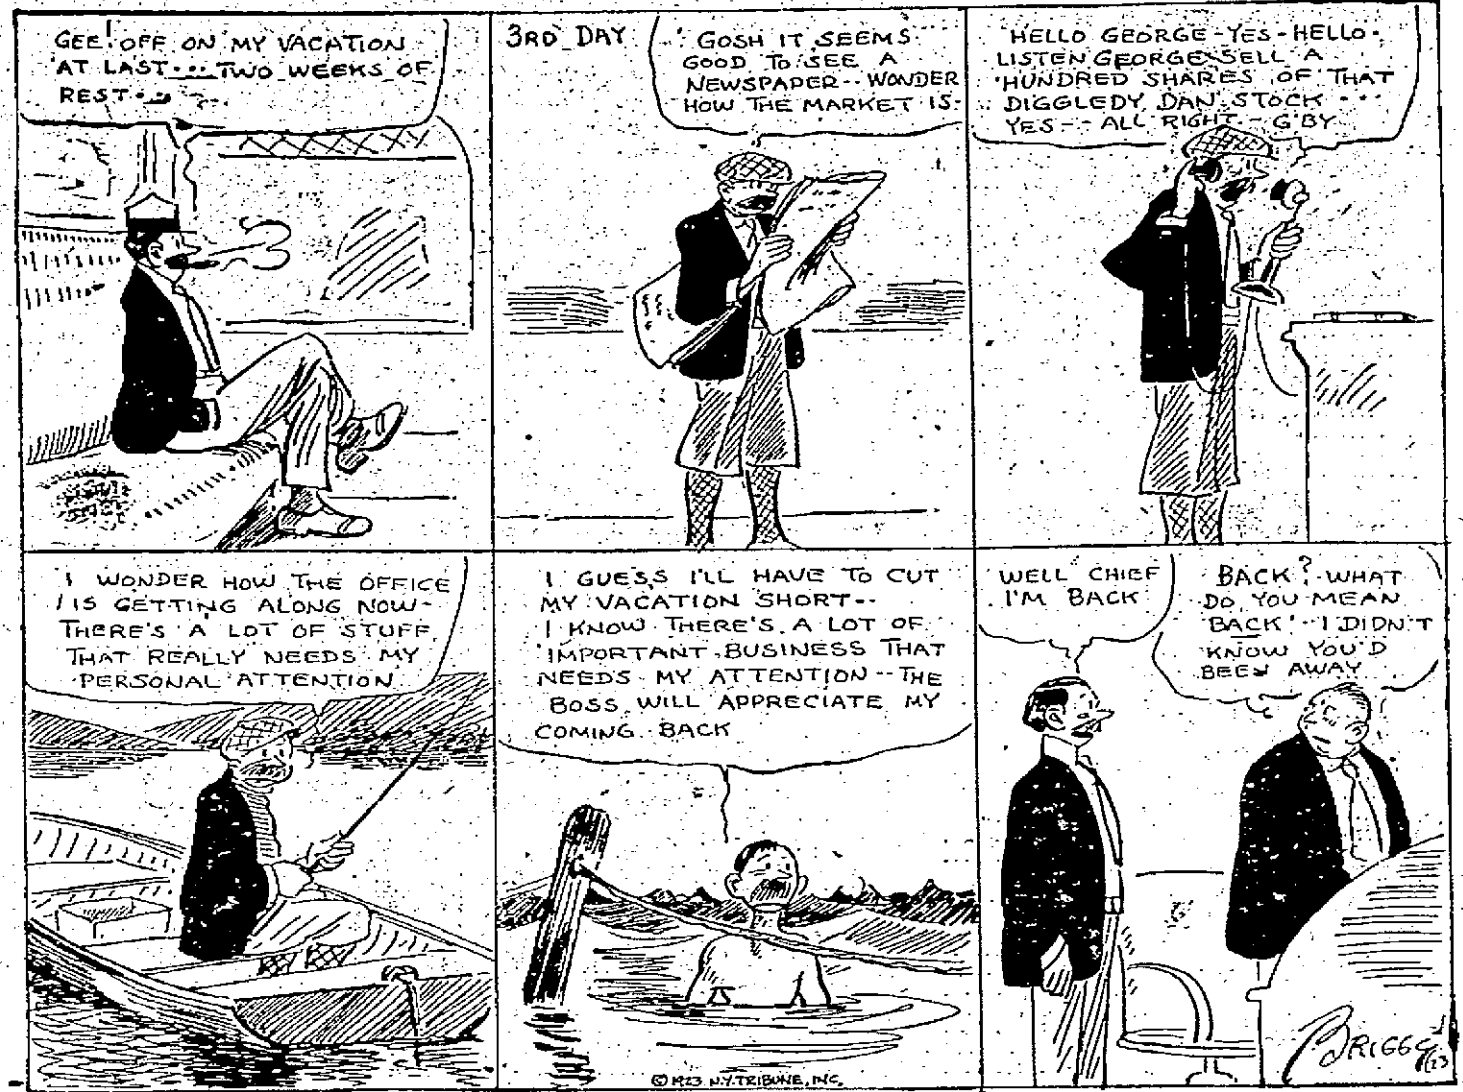

"Well," he remarked, "here is where I walk right into temptation, but I have a hunch I am going to ride out."

Soap. BY BERTON BRALEY. SING of Soap! Though I might sing Of other matters broad in scope, In fact of almost anything, I sing of Soap!

SOAP, which removes the grime and grime That comes from sweat and toil and stress; Soap--it's a ladder which we climb To cleanliness.

THE simple savage knows it not, But sits within his jungle patch, Forever finding some new spot That he must scratch.

BUT slip some soap to him and show His proper use; you'll be surprised How rapidly he's start to grow More civilized!

DISEASE and dirt stalk hand in hand, And with them it is hard to cope, But in a real progressive land There's always Soap!

AND this thought bubbles in my brain, Like soda water in a cup, The nation rich in soap will clean The others up!

PERHAPS when tired out in the wash Mine may prove unreluctant soap, But, till that moment comes, I gosh, I sing of Soap! (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)
